Employment Relations under Coalition Government Steve Williams, Peter Scott, 2016-06-10 Drawing on a wide range of up to date research Employment Relations under Coalition Government critically examines developments in UK employment relations during the period of Conservative Liberal Democrat government between 2010 and 2015 against the background of the 2007-08 financial crisis subsequent economic recession and in the context of the primacy accorded to neo liberal austerity Contributions cover a series of important and relevant topics in a rigorous yet accessible manner labour market change and the rise of zero hours contracts and other forms of precarious employment policy development relating to young people's employment the coalition's welfare to work agenda its programme of employment law reform and its approach to workplace equality and health and safety labour migration the experience of the trade unions under the coalition and their responses and developments in employment relations in the public services This book addresses the broader issues relating to the coalition period such as the implications of political and regulatory change for employment relations including the greater devolution of powers to Scotland and Wales and locates UK developments in comparative perspective The book concludes with an assessment of the prospects for employment relations in the aftermath of the May 2015 Conservatives election victory

The Difficult Construction of European Banking Union David Howarth, Joachim Schild, 2020-06-29 The Difficult Construction of European Banking Union examines the political legal and economic issues surrounding the lacunae and design faults of European Banking Union and its problematic operation The volume brings together the work of sixteen scholars focused on the diverse debates surrounding the construction and operation of Banking Union BU and its necessary reform BU represents one of the most important developments in European integration since the launch of Monetary Union Furthermore the design of the BU agreed between 2012 and 2014 was a messy compromise among EU member states It is not surprising then that BU has sparked a lively academic debate and triggered an ever growing number of publications from different disciplinary backgrounds The first wave of academic work on BU focuses upon the economic rationale underpinning the supranationalisation of control over banking regulation supervision support and resolution and the political dynamics and legal issues that shaped the design of the Union agreed This volume is located at the intersection of this first phase of academic research and a second stage which analyses the functioning of the different elements of BU New research questions are triggered by the albeit limited empirical evidence on BU s implementation and operation Contributions to this second wave of research attempt to identify potentially dangerous lacunae and contribute to on going reform debates The Difficult Construction of European Banking Union will be of great interest to scholars of the European Union Banking Economic Governance and Political Economy Most of the chapters were originally published as three special issues in the Journal of Economic Policy Reform

Working environment and work retention Johann Fridrik Fridriksson, Kristinn Tómasson, Tove Midtsundstad, Ingrid Sivesind Mehlum, Anne Inga Hilsen, Kerstin Nilsson,, Maria Albin, 2017-12-18 The project shows that the working environment is rarely the sole cause of early retirement but working environment factors may explain a large fraction of the transition to disability pension in particular Several working environment predictors of early retirement are well documented in the Nordic countries but workplace policies and activities to retain older workers rarely aim to improve the working environment There may be great potentials in developing workplace interventions which combine prevention of working environment risk factors e g risk factors for accidents strenuous work high physical work demands insufficient recovery between work shifts quantitative work demands conflicts at work and bullying harassment and age discrimination with increment of job satisfaction through increased control influence possibilities for development and recognition from management

The Architecture of Desistance Stephen Farrall, 2019-06-06 The volume of studies into desistance has grown dramatically in recent years Much of this research has focused on the internal dynamics of desistance such as decision making choice and restraint Bringing together leading figures and drawing upon case studies from around the world this book seeks to fill a vacuum in the contemporary literature on desistance by considering processes and practices at a societal level that influence how and why people desist from crime Beginning with an outline of what is known about how social cultural and economic structures shape desistance from crime this book proceeds to explore studies of desistance in countries such as the UK Brazil France Israel Ireland Sweden and Chile These studies touch on variations by ethnicity the nature of the criminal justice system economic cycles gender religious belief systems and the use of time and space Policy matters relating to desistance such as the rehabilitation and supervision of former offenders are also explored This book will be invaluable reading to students and scholars of criminology sociology and social studies engaged in studies of desistance criminology criminal justice victimology penology and probation

Introduction to Policing Research Mark Brunger, Denise Martin, Stephen Tong, 2015-11-19 The expansion of degrees and postgraduate qualifications on policing has come hand in hand with the need for a more scholarly and research based approach to the subject Students are increasingly encouraged to apply research to practice and this book is specifically designed to bring clarity to the concept of empirical research in policing As an introduction to the theoretical explanations and assumptions that underpin the rationale of research design in policing this book clearly illustrates the practical and ethical issues facing empirical research in a policing context as well as the limitations of such research Introduction to Policing Research brings together a range of leading scholars who have a wide range of experience conducting police research Topics covered include professional development police culture policing protests private policing policing and diversity policing in transition policing and mental health policing and sensitive issues This book is perfect for undergraduate and graduate students on policing degrees as well as graduate students and researchers engaged with criminal justice It is also essential reading for police officers taking professional and academic qualifications

Benefit-sharing in Environmental Governance Louisa Parks, 2019-11-20 Taking a bottom up perspective this book explores local framings of a wide range of issues related to benefit sharing a growing concept in global environmental governance Benefit sharing in Environmental Governance draws on original case studies from South Africa Namibia Greece Argentina and Malaysia to shed light on what benefit sharing looks like from the local viewpoint These local level case studies move away from the idea of benefit sharing as defined by a single international organization or treaty Rather they reflect different situations where benefit sharing has been considered including agriculture access to land and plants wildlife management and extractives industries Common themes in the experiences of local communities form the basis for an exploration of spaces for local voices at the international level in the Convention on Biological Diversity CBD often argued to be the most open arena to non state actors and therefore vital to how local voices may be included at the global level The book analyzes the decisions of the CBD parties to produce an in depth reflection on how this arena builds and delimits spaces for the expression of local community themes and paths for local community participation including community protocols The book then situates the bottom up findings in the wider debate about global civil society and deliberative democracy in environmental governance This interdisciplinary book will be of great interest to students and scholars of environmental politics environmental law political ecology and global governance as well as practitioners and policymakers involved in multilateral environmental agreements

Frontline Delivery of Welfare-to-Work Policies in Europe Rik van Berkel, Dorte Caswell, Peter Kupka, Flemming Larsen, 2017-06-27 Welfare to work or activation policies refer to programmes aimed at promoting the employability labour market and social participation of benefit recipients of working age Frontline workers delivering these policies are conceived of as policy implementers as policy makers and as actors mediating politics in an arena where conflicting interests are at stake Frontline work plays a crucial role in determining what welfare to work practically means and how it affects the lives of the people it targets Yet few books have deliberately focused on comparing what happens when frontline workers some of whom are professional social workers meet clients Pioneering the provision of scholarly reflections on both theoretical and policy relevance of studying frontline practices of delivering activation internationally renowned researchers present the first comparative analysis of how activation policies are actually delivered by frontline staff in selected EU countries and in the United States In trying to understand and interpret frontline practices in activation each contribution provides insights into what activation in practice looks like what services are provided and how they are enacted This involves examining processes of client selection monitoring sanctioning and motivating as well as the role of external service providers This book is an important acquisition for scholars and researchers of social policy public administration public management social work and policy implementation
