Pelly, 2009-09 In the spring of 1912 Anishinaabe guide Billy Magee received a letter from future conservationist Ernest Oberholtzer asking Magee to accompany him on a journey Soon after the two set off on a five month canoe expedition following the old way north a largely unmapped territory that would test both their endurance and their friendship Tracing the route of the Oberholtzer Magee expedition The Old Way North transports readers through the history of this challenging wilderness and introduces them to the mapmakers fur traders and trappers missionaries and Native peoples who relied on this corridor for trade and travel Through Oberholtzer's journals along with historical records personal interviews with Dene and Inuit and present day canoeing accounts wilderness and conservation writer David Pelly reconstructs the many tales hidden in this land Idleness, Water, and a Canoe Jamie Benidickson, 1997-01-01 This book describes the cultural significance of two centuries of recreational paddling in Canada illustrating through contemporary interviews and published sources what the experience of canoeing has meant to the sport's participants Arctic Landscapes and Traditions 3-Book Bundle David F. Pelly, 2017-02-06 From an explorer of the North's cultural landscape comes the stories and history of remote corners of our North David F Pelly gives a rare in depth account of Inuit history based on oral testimony and historical records Includes Ukkusiksalik The People's Story Ukkusiksalik now a national park was in earlier times the principal hunting ground for several Inuit families and was criss crossed by missionaries Mounties and traders David F Pelly presents the stories of Inuit elders and historical records to provide a complete history of this extraordinary corner of our northern landscape Uvajuq The Origin of Death The Inuit story of Uvajuq oo va yook is rooted in a time when people and animals lived in such harmony and unity that they could speak to each other The legend of Uvajuq as told here was collected from a group of Inuit elders in the Nunavut community of Cambridge Bay 300 kilometres north of the Arctic Circle Thelon A River Sanctuary David Pelly tells the story of the Thelon exploring the mystery of humankind's relationship with this special place in the heart of Canada's vast Arctic Barren Lands The

Film and Ethics Jacqui Miller, 2014-08-26 This book forms part of the multi disciplinary Studies in Ethics Series from Liverpool Hope University It explores the slipperiness of ethics as a concept and demonstrates the multiplicity of intellectual inquiry within contemporary Film Studies At first glance ethics is not necessarily a subject conventionally associated with film Film is often regarded as a form of lowbrow popular culture either offering bland entertainment or deliberately setting out to shock or more cynically generate box office revenue through gratuitous inclusion of sex and violence Certainly there have always been a minority of films based on the stereotypically ethical subject of religion but these have often generated the most controversy from the studio system decree that it was blasphemous to represent the corporeal body of Christ to the furore surrounding Martin Scorsese s The Last Temptation of Christ 1988 This book shows that from the silent era to the present day film has been inherently concerned with ethical issues In this light the definition of ethics that informs the volume and is taken as the starting point of each of the chapters is the notion of personal or institutional motivation most usually because a character or industry figure makes a decision or choice based on their own moral or ethical code Once this is defined the ethical dimension to films is immediately evident This book takes as its central theme the difficulty of decisions refracted through personal ethical codes and thus recognises that what counts as ethics or morality is always subjective Some of the chapters explore films which take conventionally good ethical standpoints others investigate why bad decisions were made at least one explores the celebration of practices invoking popular disgust but all the contributions study ethical decisions within film that represent the strongly felt convictions of those involved and moreover address aspects of filmmaking which force the spectator to be an active and reciprocal participant in the creation of meaning thus implicitly acknowledging that ethics are subjective and in perpetual flux rather than fixed objective truths The

Islamic Art in the 19th Century Doris Behrens-Abouseif, Stephen Vernoit, 2006 This collection of essays provides a timely reassessment of nineteenth century Islamic art and architecture The essays demonstrate that the arts of that era were vibrant and diverse making ingenious use of native traditions and materials or adopting imported conventions and new technologies However traditionalists revivalists and modernists all referred in one way or another to an Islamic heritage whether to reinvent revive or reject it Beginning with an historical introduction and an assessment of changing attitudes towards the visual arts the following essays provide case studies of architecture and art in Ottoman Turkey Egypt Morocco sub Saharan Africa Iran Central Asia India and the Caribbean They examine such issues as patronage sources of artistic inspiration and responses to European art The essays have a relevance and importance for our understanding of the societies and attitudes of that time and have a direct bearing on the more general debate concerning cultural identity and the integration of modern ideas in the Muslim world The book is richly illustrated with very many illustrations in black and white and in full colour
