Heber J. Grant,2018-03-19 Excerpt from The Latter Day Saints Millennial Star Vol 67 June 29 1905 Do we not know that a grave cannot be so small that it fails to find in the parents hearts the place which in God s infinite wisdom has been set aside for the memorial to every child of love The parent obtains new interest in every day s development of the child from birth to the limits of babyhood he obtains new interest in every year s development of the boy whether it be from kilts to knee pants from knee pants to long trousers or from smooth face to the first touch of downy beard and every turn carries a new sensation to the parents heart How often also has the sentence passed between father and mother as they anxiously bent over the sick child's bed He's just at the age when it will be hardest to lose him But it is because the parents love best the child that is sick that they think death at that age would be the hardest At any age and at all ages from babyhood even unto manhood the death of a child calls unto the parent's heart and the parent's heart always on guard in the child's interest makes prompt and grief-stricken response There is indeed not one to spare until there comes the command to which All mortals must in sorrow bow Keen though that sorrow large though the responsibilities which the child brought great though the sacrifices it required we would not if we could part with the sorrows if by doing so we must blot out the great fact that a little child came into our lives to teach us the way to love to show us the way to live and to tell us the way to die About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state-of-the-art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

Cooling the Tropics Hi'ilei Julia Kawehipuaakahaopulani Hobart, 2022-11-21 Beginning in the mid 1800s Americans hauled frozen pond water then glacial ice and then ice machines to Hawai'i all in an effort to reshape the islands in the service of Western pleasure and profit Marketed as essential for white occupants of the nineteenth century Pacific ice quickly permeated the foodscape through advancements in freezing and refrigeration technologies In Cooling the Tropics Hi'ilei Julia Kawehipuaakahaopulani Hobart charts the social history of ice in Hawai'i to show how the interlinked concepts of freshness and refreshment mark colonial relationships to the tropics From chilled drinks and sweets to machinery she shows how ice and refrigeration underpinned settler colonial ideas about race environment and the senses By outlining how ice shaped Hawai i s food system in accordance with racial and environmental imaginaries Hobart demonstrates that thermal technologies can and must be attended to in struggles for food sovereignty and political self determination in Hawai i and beyond Duke University Press Scholars of Color First Book Award Recipient The Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record ,1911 The Latter-Day Saints' Millennial Star, Vol. 67: September 14, 1905 (Classic Reprint) Heber J.
