

The Killdeer

And Other Stories
From the Farming Life

A photograph of Michael Cotter, an older man with glasses and a cap, standing in a cornfield. He is wearing a blue button-down shirt and has his hands on his hips, looking off to the side. The background is a lush green cornfield under a blue sky with some clouds.

The Killdeer And Other Stories From The Farming Life:

The Killdeer and Other Stories from the Farming Life Michael Cotter, 2014-09-30 The New Oxford Book of Canadian Short Stories in English Margaret Atwood, Robert Weaver, 1995 A survey of Canada's leading writers features forty-seven stories with new pieces by writers in the original Oxford Book of Canadian Short Stories Included are short stories by W P Kinsella Morley Callaghan Timothy Findlay Matt Cohen Alice Munro and Margaret Atwood Building Sustainable Worlds Theresa Delgadillo, Ramon H. Rivera-Servera, Geraldo L. Cadava, Claire F. Fox, 2022-07-12 Latina o x places exist as both tangible physical phenomena and gatherings created and maintained by creative cultural practices In this collection an interdisciplinary group of contributors critically examines the many ways that varied Latina o x communities cohere through cultural expression Authors consider how our embodied experiences of place together with our histories and knowledge inform our imagination and reimagination of our surroundings in acts of placemaking This placemaking often considers environmental sustainability as it helps to sustain communities in the face of xenophobia and racism through cultural expression ranging from festivals to zines to sanctuary movements It emerges not only in specific locations but as movement within and between sites not only as part of a built environment but also as an aesthetic practice and not only because of efforts by cultural political and institutional leaders but through mass media and countless human interactions A rare and crucial perspective on Latina o x people in the Midwest Building Sustainable Worlds reveals how expressive culture contributes to and sustains a sense of place in an uncertain era The Vermonter, 1928 Forest Neighbors: Life Stories of Wild Animals William Davenport Hulbert, 2021-04-25 In Forest Neighbors Life Stories of Wild Animals William Davenport Hulbert masterfully captures the intricate tapestry of wildlife behavior through a series of captivating narratives Employing an engaging blend of naturalism and lyrical prose Hulbert immerses readers in the daily lives of various forest inhabitants showcasing their struggles triumphs and interactions within their ecosystems Set against the backdrop of late 19th century America the book reflects the burgeoning interest in natural history and ecology offering meticulous observations that echo the styles of both transcendentalism and realism prevalent in the period William Davenport Hulbert an eminent naturalist and a fervent advocate for wildlife preservation draws upon his extensive experiences in the field to infuse this work with authenticity and passion His deep rooted connection to the environment coupled with a background in science and literature informs his empathetic portrayals of animals Hulbert's commitment to educating the public about the importance of biodiversity resonates throughout his writing making it a significant contribution to both literary and environmental discourse Forest Neighbors is a seminal work that beckons both nature enthusiasts and literary aficionados alike By bridging the gap between observation and storytelling Hulbert invites readers to reconsider their relationship with the natural world This book is not merely a collection of animal stories but a profound reflection on coexistence making it essential reading for anyone interested in wildlife and the intricate stories they weave In

Books ,1958-08 The Future of Family Farms Teresa Opheim,2016-09-01 A monumental transfer of farmland is occurring in the United States The average American farmer is fifty eight years old and the 40 percent of farmland owners who lease their land to others are even older sixty six on average Five times as many farmers are over sixty five as are under thirty five What will happen to this land Who will own it What if one child wants to farm but can't afford to buy out the nonfarming siblings What if keeping the farm in the family means foregoing the significant profits that could be earned from selling it These sometimes painful and divisive questions confront many farmers and farmland owners today How they answer them will shape their families and the land for generations to come The Farm Legacy Letters project developed by the member driven nonprofit Practical Farmers of Iowa is designed to help farmers and farmland owners think about their farm's future and talk about it with their families An essential complement to handbooks on business succession this book gathers the letters and stories of midwestern families about the land they cherish how they acquired it what they treasure most about it and their hopes for its future Some of the writers descend from families who have owned a particular patch of the earth since the 1800s while others became farmland owners more recently one as recently as 2015 Some are no longer farmland owners at all because after careful thought about what mattered most to them they sold their land to the next generation of farmers All of these writers hope that by sharing their farmland legacies they will encourage others to ponder and then write about the histories accomplishments challenges and hopes for their farmland for the generations who come after they are gone
