interviews and examining archival material the authors take issue with certain assumptions prevailing in the existing studies on popular music in Eastern Europe namely that it was largely based on imitation of western music and that this music had a distinctly anti communist flavour Instead they argue that self colonisation was accompanied with creating an original idiom and that the state not only fought the artists but also supported them The collection also draws attention to the foreign successes of Eastern European stars both within the socialist bloc and outside of it v The Electric Journal ,1919
