Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and energy expenditure (EE) of sedentary, middle-aged women. The subjects were 12 women, 40 to 50 years of age, who were sedentary and had no cardiovascular or other medical problems. The subjects were randomly assigned to a 12-week training program or a control group. The training program consisted of three sessions per week of aerobic exercise at 60% of the maximum HR. The control group did not exercise. The HR and EE were measured at rest and during exercise at the beginning and end of the 12-week period. The results showed that the training program had a significant effect on the HR and EE of the subjects. The HR at rest decreased significantly from 72 to 68 beats per minute (p < 0.05). The EE at rest decreased significantly from 1,200 to 1,100 kcal per day (p < 0.05). The HR and EE during exercise also decreased significantly (p < 0.05). The results of this study suggest that a 12-week training program can improve the cardiovascular and metabolic health of sedentary, middle-aged women.
