

The background of the book cover is a photograph of a modern building's exterior. It features a large, dark, perforated metal screen with a grid of diamond-shaped openings. To the left, there are vertical panels with octagonal decorative elements. In the foreground, the bare, brown branches of a tree are visible against a clear blue sky. A semi-transparent dark blue rectangle is positioned in the lower half of the image, containing the title and editor information.

Unbounded On The Interior And Interiority:

Unbounded Dolly Daou, DJ Huppertz, Dinh Quoc Phuong, 2015-06-18 In interior design the definition and popular perception of the interior has long been concerned with bounded spaces and with the relationship between private and public realms However two issues have challenged traditional boundaries between interior and exterior and private and public first the emergence of new technological practices and second a broader understanding of diverse cultures Popular perceptions of public and private space are currently being revised and the interior

Modern Asian Design D.J. Huppertz, 2018-02-22 Modern Asian Design provides a comprehensive introduction to the development of Asian design in the modern period both tracing historical threads and offering a theoretical framework within which to chart the history of design in Asia Rather than a singular Asian history this book presents a series of studies centred on trade routes colonial relationships regional networks and cross cultural exchanges Modern Asian Design builds on existing resources beyond design history in an effort to map the field focusing particularly on relations between Asia and the West and also across Asian design cultures Opening with a brief overview of trade and exchange networks in the 17th and 18th centuries the bulk of this study comprises analysis of the development of modern design in Asia during the later 19th and early 20th centuries a period of rapid modernisation The book's final two chapters bring these central ideas into a contemporary and highly relevant context

A Companion to Contemporary Design since 1945 Anne Massey, 2019-03-26 A critical overview of contemporary design and its place within the broader context of art history A Companion to Contemporary Design since 1945 introduces readers to a collection of specially commissioned essays exploring the complex areas of design that emerged through the latter half of the twentieth century design history design methods design studies and more recently design thinking The book delivers a thoughtful overview of all design disciplines and also strives to stimulate inter disciplinary debate and examine unconsidered convergences among design applications in different fields By offering a new perspective on design the articles assembled here present a challenging account of the boundaries between design history and its cognate disciplines especially art history The volume comprises five sections Time Place Space Objects and Audiences that discuss environments for design and how we interact with designed objects and spaces Notable features include 24 new essays reflecting the current state of design history and theory and examining developments on a global basis Contributions by eminent scholars and practitioners from around the globe Enriched throughout with illustrations A Companion to Contemporary Design since 1945 provides a new and thought provoking revision of our conception and understanding of contemporary design that will be essential reading for students at both undergraduate and graduate levels as well as researchers and teachers working in design history theory and practice and in related fields

Once Upon a China CJ Lim, Steve McCloy, 2021-04-15 Once Upon a China is an unconventional architectural story of great beauty empathy honour and sadness The chapters are ingenious reimagination of Dream of the Red Mansion Journey to the West The Water Margin and Romance of the Three Kingdoms and are conceived as specific themes of Chinese identity domesticity consumerism democracy and adaptability These four seminal pre modern fictions contain diverse voices and philosophical perspectives on history as well as satires that have defined past developments of Chinese societies politics and the built environment Comics is an unorthodox but extraordinary medium for architectural speculations The eccentric characteristics of comic inspired drawings in this book enrich the processes of conception and conceptualisation of design their fragmented yet sequential nature proves versatile in the imagination of spatial experiences enabling the complex stories of place brief and building to materialise At the same time the politicisation of architecture through comics engenders a sense of optimism to reappraise Chinese design futures and critical thinking beyond the exuberance of non contextual Western capitalist models

Flow Penny Sparke, Patricia Brown, Patricia Lara-Betancourt, Gini Lee, Mark Taylor, 2018-07-12 Flow combines cutting edge scholarship with practitioner perspectives to address the concept of flow and how it connects interiors landscapes and buildings expanding on traditional notions of architectural prominence Contributors explore the transitional and intermediary relationships between inside outside Through a range of case studies authors extend the notion of flow beyond the western industrialised world and embrace a wider geography while engaging with the specificity of climate and place Accompanied by stunning colour illustration and photography Flow brings together historical theoretical and practice based approaches to consider themes of nature mobility continuity and frames

Subverting Consumerism Robert Crocker, Keri Chiveralls, 2018-07-24 There is now a widespread interest in reuse in many domains from opera houses built over old warehouses to vintage clothes and everyday goods incorporating repurposed materials or parts Despite its ubiquity this extensive creative work is typically seen in narrowly environmental terms as a means of reducing carbon resource use or waste However as this volume shows reuse also has aesthetic and cultural dimensions and a rich social currency invoked to consciously subvert the accelerated consumer culture responsible for our unfolding environmental crisis In three parts the essays in this book consider reuse in terms of values aesthetics and meaning its application in contemporary urban and spatial settings and the revival of social practices involving a more conscious recourse to reuse and repair These are bookended by the editors essays the first on the significant relationship between reuse and technological and social acceleration evident in the surrounding consumer society and the last on the multiple forms of reuse deployed in a contemporary alternative building practice and their contributions to presenting alternative ways of living in the world Challenging dominant understandings of waste and consumption Subverting Consumerism shows how reuse has become a means for many to creatively engage with the past and to discover a continuity and sense of place eroded by the accelerative regimes of contemporary consumerism. Becoming a means of resistance and offering a range of aesthetic social and economic possibilities, reuse can be found to subvert and challenge the obsessive quest for the new found in contemporary consumerism. idea journal: (extra) ordinary interiors: practising critical reflection Julieanna Preston, 2021-09-01. Extra Ordinary Interiors features research articles and visual essays by academics, research students and practitioners that demonstrate contemporary modes of criticality and reflection on specific interior environments in ways that expand upon that which is ordinary of the everyday, common, banal or taken for granted.

Somebody Else's Problem Robert Crocker, 2017-09-08. Gold winner of the AXIOM Business Book Award in the category of Philanthropy Non Profit Sustainability. Please see <http://www.axiomawards.com/77/award-winners/2017-winners>. Consumerism promises a shortcut to a better life through the accumulation of certain fashionable goods and experiences. Over recent decades this has resulted in a rising tide of cheap, short-lived goods produced, used and discarded in increasingly rapid cycles along the way, depleting resources and degrading environmental systems. Somebody Else's Problem calls for a radical change in how we think about our material world and how we design, make and use the products and services we need. Rejecting the idea that individuals alone are responsible for the environmental problems we face, it challenges us to look again at the systems, norms and values we take for granted in daily life and their cumulative role in our environmental crisis. Robert Crocker presents an overview of the main forces giving rise to modern consumerism, looks closely at today's accelerating consumption patterns and asks why older, more custodial patterns of consumption are in decline. Avoiding simplistic quick fix formulas, the book explores recommendations for new ways of designing, making and using goods and services that can reduce our excess consumption but still contribute to a good and meaningful life. The Central Asian World Jeanne Féaux de la Croix, Madeleine Reeves, 2023-10-25. This landmark book provides a comprehensive anthropological introduction to contemporary Central Asia. Established and emerging scholars of the region critically interrogate the idea of a Central Asian World at the intersection of post-Soviet, Persianate East and South Asian worlds. Encompassing chapters on life between Afghanistan and Kazakhstan, Turkmenistan and Xinjiang, this volume situates the social, political, economic, ecological and ritual diversity of Central Asia in historical context. The book ethnographically explores key areas such as the growth of Islamic finance, the remaking of urban and sacred spaces as well as decolonising and queering approaches to Central Asia. The volume's discussion of More than Human Worlds, Everyday Economies, Material Culture, Migration and Statehood engages core analytical concerns such as globalisation, inequality and postcolonialism. Far more than a survey of a world region, the volume illuminates how people in Central Asia make a life at the intersection of diverse, cross-cutting currents and flows of knowledge. In so doing, it stakes out the contribution of an anthropology of and from Central Asia to broader debates within contemporary anthropology. This is an essential reference for anthropologists as well as for scholars from other disciplines with a focus on Central Asia Throw Your Voice Meghanne Barker, 2024-08-15 Throw Your Voice is a story of loss and recovery It relates how children placed in a temporary care institution make sense of their situations Moving between a Kazakhstan government children s home Hope House and the Almaty State Puppet Theater Meghanne Barker shows how children and puppets as proxies bring to life ideologies of childhood and visions of a rosy future Sites and stories run in parallel Framed by the narrative of Anton Chekhov s Kashtanka about a lost dog taken in by a kind stranger the author follows the story s staging at the puppet theater At Hope House children find themselves on a path similar to Kashtanka dislodged from their first homes to reside in a second The heart of this story is about living in displacement and about the fragile intimacies achieved amidst conditions of missing Whether due to war migration or pandemic people get separated from those closest to them Throw Your Voice examines how strangers become familiar and how objects mediate precarious ties She shows how people use fantasy to mitigate loss The Sense of an Interior Diana Fuss, 2004-08-02 The Sense of an Interior is a fascinating exploration of domestic space and of the ways it determines how writers work The book looks at four famous figures Emily Dickinson Sigmund Freud Helen Keller and Marcel Proust and examines the relationship between their work and the spaces where they wrote Finite but Unbounded: New Approaches in Philosophical Anthropology Kevin M. Cahill, Martin Gustafsson, Thomas Schwarz Wentzer, 2017-05-22 World leading anthropologists and philosophers pursue the perplexing question fundamental to both disciplines What is it to think of ourselves as human A common theme is the open ended and context dependent nature of our notion of the human one upshot of which is that perplexities over that notion can only be dealt with in a piecemeal fashion and in relation to concrete real life circumstances Philosophical anthropology understood as the exploration of such perplexities will thus be both recognizably philosophical in character and inextricably bound up with anthropological fieldwork The volume is put together accordingly Precisely by mixing ostensibly philosophical papers with papers that engage in close anthropological study of concrete issues it is meant to reflect the vital tie between these two aspects of the overall philosophical anthropological enterprise The collection will be of great interest to philosophers and anthropologists alike and essential reading for anyone interested in the interconnections between the two disciplines Order at the Bazaar Regine A. Spector, 2017-08-15 Order at the Bazaar delves into the role of bazaars in the political economy and development of Central Asia Bazaars are the economic bedrock for many throughout the region they are the entrepreneurial hubs of Central Asia However they are often regarded as mafia governed environments that are largely populated by the dispossessed By immersing herself in the bazaars of Kyrgyzstan Regine A Spector learned that some are rather best characterized as islands of order in a chaotic national context Spector draws on interviews archival sources and participant observation to show how traders landowners and municipal officials create order in the absence of a coherent government apparatus and bureaucratic state Merchants have adapted Soviet institutions including trade unions and pre Soviet practices such as using village elders as the arbiters of disputes to the urban bazaar by building and asserting their own authority Spector's findings have relevance beyond the bazaars and borders of one small country they teach us how economic development operates when the rule of law is weak
