

Social Work Research Paper

Introduction

The report is based on an interview conducted at a medical social work agency. The primary purposes of this investigation were: to explore the organization and its delivery of services given to the society, and to understand and assess the function of the workers at the medical social work agency. This report attempts to provide a qualitative analysis of the organizational context of the services rendered, and the influences this has on agency practice, standards and functioning. In this study, we will begin with an overview of the agency, then we will look at the necessary avenues of a social worker in the healthcare sector; their roles and responsibilities to their firm and as a worker of the community, and finally the techniques used in the agency for working with the different parts of a community or society. Avenues such as practice and intervention, client population, ethical standards and professionalism in dealing with issues arising within the firm, will be explored. The data was collected via a single interview and thus all data collected and analysed would be assumed as the standard for all social workers in the organization.

An Overview of the Agency

The name of the organization of focus was The Eastern Regional Health Authority (ERHA), located in Mayaro. It was founded in 1994 as an act of parliament and is one of five health authorities in the Republic of Trinidad and Tobago. ERHA is responsible for healthcare in Trinidad's eastern area which consists of places accounting for approximately one-third of Trinidad's land mass. The agency covers from Rio Claro in the south, to Valencia in the east (The Government of the Republic of Trinidad and Tobago, 2018). The organization works in line with the Ministry of Health in Trinidad and Tobago and it functions based on clusters which separate the different areas. The number of health facilities in the different areas will account for the varying of cluster numbers. According to the social worker, the area of research is split into two clusters and this is done throughout the different branches of the organization for easier management. Also, social work in ERHA is divided into two professional groups, psychiatric social workers and medical social workers.

Vision Statement, Mission Statement and Values of the Agency

The vision and aims of the agency are to continuously improve the quality of life for clients by delivering quality health care that is accessible to all. The mission statement and intended actions of the agency are to promote social welfare while collaborating with the community and by focusing on the needs of the population, the agency provides help for members of the community. It allows members of society to obtain several healthcare services that they may not be able to obtain, within the guidelines of national social policy.

The core values of the agency that define their identity and actions are as follows:

Practising Social Work Research Rick Csiernik, Rachel Birnbaum, 2024-06-03 Research skills are as critical to social work practitioners as skills in individual and group counselling policy analysis and community development Adopting strategies similar to those used in direct practice courses this book integrates research with social work practice and in so doing promotes an understanding and appreciation of the research process The third edition of Practising Social Work Research comprises twenty seven case studies that illustrate different research approaches including quantitative qualitative single subject and mixed methods The third edition also adopts a greater equity diversity and inclusivity focus than the previous editions Through the use of applied real life examples the authors demonstrate the processes of conceptualization operationalization sampling data collection and processing and implementation Designed to help the student and practitioner become more comfortable with research procedures Practising Social Work Research capitalizes on the strengths that social work students bring to assessment and problem solving Human Behavior for Social Work Practice Wendy L.

Haight, Edward H. Taylor, Ruth Soffer-Elnekave, 2020 The primary goal of this text is to support social work students in HBSE 1 courses to develop a conceptual framework for understanding and meeting the challenges they will likely encounter in 21st century practice Through contemporary scholarship in human development ecology and systems theory we build on social work's classic bio psycho social spiritual framework Our interdisciplinary developmental ecological systems framework addresses the ways in which human beings shape and are shaped within complex and dynamic national and international contexts across the lifespan We attempt to establish a bridge between undergraduate courses in the social behavioral and biological sciences and social work practice courses We begin by establishing a framework for understanding human behavior in the social environment through chapters providing an historical overview of the interdisciplinary roots of the developmental ecological systems framework the brain and development and the role of empirical evidence on social work practice Then we examine social work issues at various points in human development using specific programs and policies to illustrate developmentally and culturally sensitive social work practice These chapters include excerpts from interviews with practicing social workers Part 3 focuses on social work issues affecting individuals across the lifespan and around the globe through chapters on disability and stigmatization race racism and resistance women and gender and terrorism

Homelessness and Social Work Carole Zufferey, 2016-11-25 Drawing on intersectional theorising Homelessness and Social Work highlights the diversities and complexities of homelessness and social work research policy and practice It invites social work students practitioners policy makers and academics to re examine the subject by exploring how homelessness and social work are constituted through intersecting and unequal power relations The causes of homelessness are frequently associated with individualist explanations without examining the broader political and intersecting social inequalities that shape how social problems such as homelessness are constructed and responded to by social workers In reflecting on factors such as Indigeneity race ethnicity gender class age sexuality ability and other markers of identity the author seeks to construct a new intersectional framework for understanding social work and homelessness provide a critical analysis of social work responses to homelessness challenge how homelessness is represented in social work research social policy and social work practice and incorporate the stories of people experiencing homelessness The book will be of interest to undergraduate and higher research degree students in the fields of intersectionality homelessness sociology public policy and social work Understanding Social Work Research Betty G.
